

Seungji Han

Email: seungji@snu.ac.kr Telephone: +82 10 8381 0154 Nationality: Republic of Korea

Education

PhD Candidate in City Planning, Seoul National University (2024–)

Doctoral Research (in progress)

- U.S. military base cities in East Asia as sites of territorial urbanization
- Militarized governance and its effects on urban space, labor, and planning practices
- Comparative cases: South Korea (Yongsan, Dongducheon, Pyeongtaek) and the Philippines (Clark, Subic)
- Methods: archival research, oral history interviews, comparative urban analysis

MA in Media & Cultural Studies, Graduate School of Communication, Yonsei University (2023)

BA in Film & Moving Image and Cultural Contents, Konkuk University (2021)

Experience

Co-Researcher

2026 Seoul Oral History Project: “Haebangchon as a Living Sphere of Yongsan Garrison” / Seoul Historiography Institute (Mar 2026 –)

- Contributed to the design of interview frameworks and qualitative research protocols for a city-funded oral history project
- Documenting the everyday history of Haebangchon as a living sphere of the Yongsan Garrison

Co-Researcher

Party Democracy at the Local Level: A Case Study of Seongbuk-gu, Seoul / Democratic Party of Korea, Seongbuk-gu District Committee (Jan 2026 – Feb 2026)

- Conducted a political-geographical analysis of Seongbuk-gu, examining how local social, cultural, and spatial conditions are mediated through party organization at the district level
- Investigated how district-level party committees function as hubs of everyday political practice, based on in-depth interviews and survey research with party members

Co-Researcher

2025 Seoul Life and Culture Data Survey: Bangi-dong / Seoul Museum of History (Apr 2025 – Present)

- Authored a comparative analysis chapter examining everyday life and cultural practices in Bangi 1-dong and 2-dong
- Conducted in-depth qualitative analysis of urban life and cultural datasets to identify patterns of socio-cultural differentiation and neighborhood-level variation

Co-Researcher

2025 Seoul Oral History Project: “A Small World in Seoul – Voices of the Yongsan Garrison” / Seoul Historiography Institute (Mar 2025 – Nov 2025)

- Contributed to the design of interview frameworks and qualitative research protocols for a city-funded oral history project
- Conducted and analyzed oral history interviews with Korean workers employed at the Yongsan Garrison, focusing on labor experience, institutional memory, and everyday life within a militarized urban environment

Researcher and Writer

Evaluation and Commentary on Records Series 1 / Seoul Metropolitan Archives (Dec 2024 – May 2025)

- Authored Chapter 3, “The Planned City of Yeouido: From Plaza to Park,” analyzing the historical transformation of Yeouido through state planning documents and archival materials
- Conducted systematic archival research on urban planning records, redevelopment plans, and institutional narratives

Co-Researcher

2024 Seoul Oral History Project: Korean Firefighters at Yongsan Garrison / Seoul Historiography Institute (Mar 2024 – Nov 2024)

- Conducted oral history interviews with former Korean firefighters employed at the Yongsan Garrison, documenting labor practices, institutional roles, and lived experiences
- Contributed to transcription, narrative structuring, and archival preparation of interview materials for long-term public preservation

Co-Researcher

Buan Salt Workers: Labor, Culture, and Spatial History of the Salt Fields / Buan-gun Cultural Foundation (Jul 2023 – Dec 2023)

- Conducted field-based research on labor practices, production techniques, and everyday lives of salt workers in the Gomsoman Salt Fields
- Analyzed material working conditions, local production systems, and the socio-spatial formation of a salt-field labor community through qualitative observation and interviews

Key Research Skills

Qualitative Research	Archival research and analysis of planning and historical documents In-depth interviews Focus groups Oral history interviews and transcription Qualitative coding and narrative analysis Research on labor and institutional histories in urban contexts
Quantitative / Analytical	Analysis of urban and cultural survey data Comparative analysis across neighborhoods and case studies
Urban and Spatial Analysis	Historical and comparative analysis of urban transformation Multi-scalar approaches to urban space
Academic Practice	Seminar presentations and academic writing Preparation of research and seminar materials

Publications and Presentations

“A Small World within Seoul: Voices from Yongsan Garrison.” The 2026 Spring Conference of the Korean Oral History Association, May 2026. (with Taehyun Ha and Seungji Han)

“Reading East Asia Thoughtfully.” The 2026 Spring Conference of the Korean Association of Space and Environment Research, May 2026. (with Yoonji Song, Jinseo Park, Didi Kyoung-ae Han, and Seungji Han)

“How did the Square Become a Park? — A Multiscalar Reconstruction of Yeouido Square’s Parkification in Seoul.” Korean Journal of Urban History, no. 39 (2025), pp. 119–157. DOI: 10.22345/kjuh.2025.07.39.119

“Temporality in Spatial Planning: Rethinking the One-Day Life Zone through the Lens of Mobility and Speed.” (with Yilsoon Paek), Space and Environment, vol. 35, no. 1 (2025), pp. 16–61. DOI: DOI : 10.19097/kaser.2025.35.1.16

“Managing Sex Workers and U.S. Military Camp Towns in South Korea: Sexualized Spaces and Bio-Disciplinary Infrastructure.” The 11th East Asian Conference in Alternative Geography, Fukuoka, Japan, February 2025.